From the Editor

We have a new Sales rep from Friendly Chevrolet but I didn't catch his name. I asked for his card and he didn't have one! First car salesman I've met that didn't have a pocket full of them... Oh well, I'll get it next month. The number in the blurb to the right probably still works even though Gary isn't there anymore.

CCT has a lot of stuff on its plate for the next year or two. Maybe too much for the number of active members. The push from the club leadership for volunteers is already at a fever pitch. Everyone should remember that some people are organizers/volunteers, some are not. Forcing those that are not comfortable with it into those roles just to fill slots is a recipe for discord. I believe our club is on the brink right now. Most new members we get come to one or two events, never to be seen again. Old members are running close to burnout. The same people keep doing all the work and, by now, anyone inclined to step up has done so many times over. And now we need scores of people to fill the roles outlined in our convention/50th year plans... We need to be careful that we don't press so hard that people become afraid to show up at meetings because they are constantly made to feel guilty for not "signing up." If they do they may be lost forever.

President's Prerogative June 2007 GOVERNOR'S REPORT

Well as I sit here on Sunday evening, tomorrow is Memorial Day, the start of summer. I feel that this is going to be a GREAT summer with CCT events for everyone to enjoy. We all need to give Patti Bertwell a "Thank You" the next time you see her; she has done a great job of planning events for us to "Drive and Eat."

We have submitted the third of the three required issues of the newsletter for the NCCC newsletter competition. Your input with articles, both car related and about your families and other interests is appreciated and needed by Joe.

I think the most important thing you can be doing for YOUR Corvette Club is to contact Dennis Bertwell and let him know which committee or committees you want to help with for the activities we will be participating in 2008: the NCCC convention next year in Tulsa, the 50th anniversary celebration of the founding of CCT, and our CCT trip to the Corvette Museum. There will be lots of opportunities to pitch in and help with activities for this once in a lifetime celebration of our 50th anniversary. Something as simple as your presence at our monthly meetings in itself is a contribution. Feel free to speak up and share any ideas, opinions, suggestions, and feedback you may have.

Mitch Factor

President, CCT

...and remember to Save the Wave!

I attended the SW Region Governors meeting in Waco May 19th. (Understand we missed a very good CCT drive & eat, but duty calls.) The meeting was not very eventful. Most of the discussion for the 2008 convention was colors and styles of shirts that will be sold. A committee was formed of volunteers to determine the styles of shirts that were selling best at the 2007 convention and base our selection on that. Seems most women who buy the most shirts like various colors and a different design than the men's shirts.

The turnout for the Cen-Tex event was very good with over 60 people entered. There was some extra interest at the event since President Bush was at his ranch. The secret service agents were at the airport where the racing was going on and some of the agents got rides in the Corvettes. Don't know if President Bush made it out for his ride but that would have been quite an event if he did. The only NCCC event scheduled in June is the National Convention in Nashville June 16-23.

REMEMBER IT IS NOT TOO EARLY TO BE THINKING ABOUT WHAT YOU WANT TO VOLUNTEER FOR AT THE 2008 CONVENTION THE SW REGION IS HOSTING IN TULSA. DENNIS BERTWELL HAS A SIGN UP SHEET JUST WAITING FOR YOUR NAME.

CORVETTE CLUB OF TEXAS, INC.MAY 18, 2007, MEMBERSHIP MEETING*FRIENDLY CHEVROLET, STEMMONS FREEWAY, DALLAS

Mitch Factor brought the meeting to order at 7:30 PM, May 18, 2007. Carol gave the treasurer's report showing some new graphs and charts she had initiated to show various expenses and cost comparisons.

The secretary read the minutes from the May board meeting and they were approved as read. The April membership minutes were approved as printed in the newsletter.

Joann gave the NCCC report and said she had been requested by the NCCC convention coordinator to furnish more detail for the party we are arranging, but after discussing and not knowing what the breakdown for last year's party, we can only request $1,000 for decorations and door prizes and $600 for DJ. Paul Deen suggested she talk to Debbie Lindsey about cost of the door prizes in the past. Mitch said that Dennis Bertwell was the committee head in charge of the CCT 50th Anniversary part of the party at NCCC convention next year.

Mary welcomed the guests and previous members—Lynn and Phil Schilt; our traveling retired members—Paul and Karen Deen; and Brian Gelles (who has been absent during the hockey and basketball seasons).

Patti discussed the upcoming events as printed in the newsletter and encouraged everyone to attend the "Horses and Horsepower" drive and eat tomorrow and then attending the car show at Texas Motor Speedway. Also, June 2nd we are going on a "Duck Tour" meet and eat. Reservations need to be made by Monday, May 28, to assure seating on the duck boat. Information sheet was passed out with all the information. Also, June 16 is the Christian Car Show, which everyone was encouraged to enter their cars this year.

The DVD was shown of the Angel Fire Trip for 2005. The new trip for this year was discussed and those wanting to sign up should get in touch with Ken Bradley. Six couples have signed up so far.

Mary made a recommendation to cater this year's Christmas party. The motion was made, seconded and passed to cater the 2007 Christmas party.

Paul Wolter discussed the Roundup Autocross for October 6 & 7. The host hotel has been changed to Stonebridge Hotel, which includes a lot of amenities for the guests and a better rate for the rooms. The North Texas Vettes will be hosting this event with us again this year.

Paulette conducted the raffle and the first three winners took the last three tickets for the Corvette being raffled off at NCCC convention this year: Paul Wolter, Keith Amendson and Patti Bertwell. The following people won gifts as follows: Brian Gelles—candle; Lynn Schilt, Annette Marsh, Brian Gelles, and Paul Deen-- won cards by Paula Mischel; Gene Whitaker—wine; Billie Loflin--poster.

Everyone was invited to proceed to the Wing House on Northwest Highway hosted by Jeanette and Ken Bradley.

The meeting adjourned at 8:45 PM.

Respectfully submitted,

Jeanette Bradley, Secretary

Activities Report

Make plans now to join other CCT members show their Corvettes at the upcoming Christian Classic Cruisers Car Show on Saturday, June 16th at Birdville High School in North Richland Hills. We will have an area reserved for CCT so that we can all sit together and enjoy the show as we watch spectators come by and admire our beautiful cars! It costs $10 to enter your car. The show begins at 5:00 and lasts until 9:00. If you plan on registering your car you will need to be there at 4:30. On this particular Saturday which is their "Father's Day Show," the first 150 cars will receive a dash plaque and a goodies bag from "Hemmings Motor News."

Since it will be too early to go to dinner before the show you can either bring food and drinks for yourself or a snack to share. Remember to bring your bag chairs. (And insect repellent might not be a bad idea, either!) If you are not able to enter your car, make plans to come to the show and see all of the great cars they will have on display.

Please be sure and always check the Activities Calendar in the newsletter in case there have been changes. Sometimes the dates or times that were on previous calendars may have been changed.

Thanks to everyone for your continued support and participation.

The first Jet Stream Blue Corvette, a new color for 2008. A lot like Nassau Blue with more metallic in it. It seems it is a "love it or hate it" color...

Chevrolet Owners Treated to Exclusive Experience at Indy Motor Speedway

Race fans at Indianapolis Motor Speedway last weekend may have been surprised to see almost 10 times the normal field when 300 Chevrolets circle the legendary 2.5-mile oval.

Saturday's lap around the track by Chevrolet owners is part of a special Corvette celebration taking place last weekend in conjunction with the company's role as the Official Pace Car of the 2007 Indianapolis 500.

Chevrolet, pacing the Indianapolis 500 for the 18th time, hosted Corvette and Camaro owners from across Indiana for a once-in-a-lifetime experience at the historic speedway. On Saturday, nearly 24 hours before the Indianapolis 500 gets underway, the Chevy owners drove their personal Corvette or Camaro around the track and gathered for a group photo at the speedway's famed yard of bricks. Following the parade lap and photo, guests spent the evening at the Chevy display where food, live entertainment and a full-display of Chevy race and production vehicles (including an exhibit of all nine Corvette Indianapolis 500 pace cars) was on hand.

Owner Feedback Form Available

The Corvette Assembly Plant has instituted an Owners Feedback Form for you to talk about your Corvette. There is a team of five individuals who will be reading ALL of these important posts sent directly in to the Bowling Green Assembly Plant about your C6 or C5 (yes, they do want to hear from C5 owners!) and redirecting them to the proper individuals regarding your input. Any information you provide will be used to help General Motors improve their products.

They do not intend to answer each entry directly unless they need more information or clarification.

You must sign in with your model year and the last eight digits of your VIN number, you will have an opportunity to inform them of your concerns, or praise their efforts in the manufacture of your Corvette that they produced correctly! After you have done this, the next screen will ask you for your contact information so that they can get back in touch with you if your concern or praise warrants it.

So take advantage of the opportunity and go to: <http://www.bowlinggreenassemblyplant.com/survey/index.htm> to tell the folks at the Plant what you think of the amazing work they do, building our Corvettes each and every day!

Jokes

A man was driving down a country road in the middle of dairy farm country when his car stalled inexplicably. He got out and raised the hood to see if he could find out what had happened. A brown and white cow slowly lumbered from the field she had been grazing in over to the car and stuck her head under the hood beside the man. After a moment the cow looked at the man and said, "Looks like a bad carburetor to me." Then she walked back into the field and began grazing again.

Amazed, the man walked back to the farmhouse he had just passed, where he met a farmer. "Hey, mister, is that your cow in the field?" he asked. The farmer replied, "The brown and white one? Yep, that's old Bessie." The man then said, "Well my car's broken down, and she just said, 'Looks like a bad carburetor to me.'" The farmer shook his head and said, "Don't mind old Bessie, son. She don't know a thing about cars."

The Senior Driver

As a senior citizen was driving down the freeway, his car phone rang. Answering, he heard his wife's voice urgently warning him, "Herman, I just heard on the news that there's a car going the wrong way on 280. Please be careful!"

"Hell," said Herman, "It's not just one car. It's hundreds of them!"

I saw a sign at a gas station. It said "help wanted." There was another sign below it that said "self service." So I hired myself. Then I made myself the boss. I gave myself a raise. I paid myself. Then I quit.

Chemistry of Cleaning

In the science of car cleaning/detailing, dirt can be classified as organic soil, nonorganic soil, and petroleum soil. Not much else by way of dirt exists in the car world. If you can figure out the type of soil, you can select the proper cleaner. With the proper cleaner, 99% of all stains will come out.

The basic selection of what cleaner to use is primarily a determination based upon the soil to be removed and the surface from which the soil must be removed. The three basic types of cleaners (acids, alkalis, and solvents) are designed to work primarily on certain soils and upon certain surfaces.

Choosing the right cleaner begins by analyzing, the soil and matching it to the cleaner best designed to remove it. Some of the common forms of soil are best removed by one of the basic cleaners: Function of a Cleaner's Components are In order to understand cleaning chemistry, it is necessary to know the functions or properties of the components of a cleaner. These are defined as follows:

- Organic soil: Anything that contains carbons. This includes all proteins, animal fats, body oils, mold, yeast, bugs, bacteria, animal and bug excrement (waste mater), and others. That ketchup and fries you spilled on the front seat are a classic organic soil.
- Nonorganic soil: Composed of minerals rather than living material, chemical compounds that contain no carbon, excluding the oxides of carbon, carbon disulfide, cyanides, and their associated acids and salts.
- Petroleum soils: Substances that do not contain water and will not mix with water. Petroleum soils do not have a pH factor. Petroleum soils include common chemicals like motor oil, grease, and road tar.

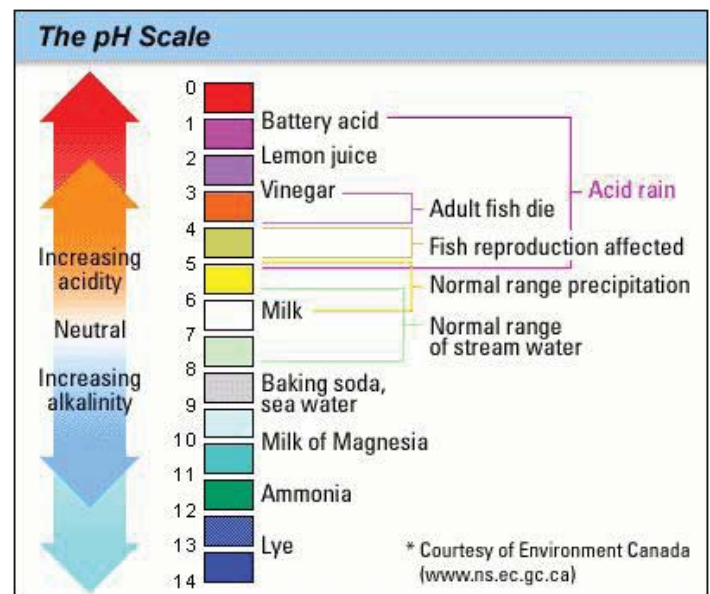

The most common types of chemicals include surfactants, solvents, and wetting agents. The word "surfactant" is a fancy term for any soap or detergent. Surfactant molecules are created with two compounds. One molecule is attracted to the soil itself, and the other is attracted to water. The chemical compound that's attracted to water is called a hydrophilic. Its job is to surround the soil, and rinse it away.

Every cleaner needs a solvent to dissolve soil. The most common solvent is one you might not even think of: water. Some solvents, such as mineral spirits, work great on petroleum soils, like tar and grease, and may be necessary on surfaces that might be damaged by water (like the headliner, the fabric covering the inside of the roof of a vehicle).

Other solvents that are common in car-care chemicals include d-limonene, which is the chemical name for citrus oil made from orange and lemon peels. Solvents containing d-limonene are a bit more expensive than other cleaners but are safe to use throughout the car. A surfactant that is a good detergent (detergents break a soil's bond to a surface) will not be a good penetrating agent. Penetrating and wetting allows water to surround soil so it can be removed. As you might have now surmised, the chemist can improve the performance of a good detergent surfactant by including a second surfactant that has good wetting and penetrating qualities.

Did you know that animal fat is used in the manufacturing of soaps? Boil some pig fat, add a handful of lye, and you can make a bar of soap. The same chemical process that makes soap can be used to remove fats and oils. Chemists use a base, typically an alkaline, mixed with fats and oils to create soap in a process called saponification. Once transformed, fats and oils can be washed away with water.

Understanding pH

The strength of a solution is determined by where on the pH scale the reading falls. As a general rule, on the acid side, the lower the number the stronger the acid and on the alkaline side, the higher the number the stronger the solution. The pH reading measures "strength" not quality.

Few realize how rapidly alkalinity is increased as the pH is raised or how quickly acidity increases as the pH is lowered. For example, we begin with a solution that is pH 7 neutral. When the alkalinity of the solution is increased to 8, the strength is now 10 times stronger than that of pH 7. Increase the pH to 9, the solution is 100 times stronger than it was at 7 (10 X 10=100). For each whole step up or down the pH scale, the strength increases or decreases by 10 times. This rapid buildup continues until pH 14, which is 10 million times as strong as pH 7. It is the same for the acid side of the scale. There is a far greater difference in the concentration of strength than the values (0-14) indicate.

Now that you know the basics, here are some tips to remember when selecting a cleaner. When in doubt, test a new chemical on a hidden part of the surface you want to clean to verify compatibility.

- Organic soil is cleaned with alkaline cleaners.
- Nonorganic soil is removed with acids.
- Petroleum soil must be removed with a petroleum-based cleaner.

Many detail shops use a general-purpose cleaner for all detailing. I often hear people say they use a product like Purple Power or Simple Green, both strong engine degreasers, to clean everything from wheels to carpets. In my opinion, this is both dangerous and harmful to the car in the wrong hands. After all, none of us would bathe with laundry detergent, so why would we treat delicate car surfaces with harsh chemicals?

You are about to learn all my little secrets, there really is no secrets. With our active lifestyles and the amount of time people spend in their cars, the average car interior is an easy victim to a multitude of enemies in the form stains and odors. Stain and odor removal is a science unto itself. A stain is like a locked door. Find the correct cleaner for the stain and you can unlock the door. the stain will come out. Upholstery fabrics and carpets vary widely, as do the types of stains. However, in my experience, there is a correct method and a suitable cleaner for most car interior problems.

A spot is a visible defect in the appearance of a fabric, Dried chewing gum on a floor mat is a spot. You can see it. But the gum is not a stain. Black coffee spots on beige upholstery qualify as a stain. A stain is the residue of a liquid absorbent which has soaked into the fabric. You can see a coffee stain; it is not a spot. Knowing the differences between spots and stains can help you select the appropriate cleaning method for a job.

The more similar the stain remover is to the stain, the greater the likelihood of your success. If you have to remove tar from the carpet, you will have better luck removing the stain with a petroleum-based product rather than with water. Similarly, detergent and water will clean better than petroleum solvents when coffee stains need to be removed.

Categories of Stains

- Organic/Natural Stains: Colored food such as candy, some medicines, cough syrup, Coffee, urine, mustard, curry, wine, vomit, and tea
- Petroleum-based: are substances that do not contain water, shoe scuff marks, oil, tar, polish, lipstick and other makeup, fountain pen ink and crayons.

If you are dealing with fresh spills, clean by daubing, not by rubbing firmly, with white absorbent materials. Cotton terry towels best because of its high absorbency. Avoid using color towels they will bleed from the rag to the surface you are cleaning, and to see the progress you are making during the removal process.

Remove solid, built-up materials with a tablespoon, spatula, or brush. Pretest all spot-removal agents in an inconspicuous area. Use small amounts of cleaning agent and blot frequently. Always blot; do not rub or brush. Identify the fiber to be cleaned; this will give you some indication of its colorfastness and resistance to spotting chemicals. Work from the outer edge of a spot toward the center to prevent stain rings. I have found using this method pushes the stain inward rather than pushing out leaving that ugly ring. Treat stained area with required spotting solution based on the type of stain, until the stain is removed. The final step is always to rinse the area gently with distilled water. Then absorb all remaining moisture with towels. Be patient: some stains respond slowly depending on the fabric, the dye, the age of the stain, and other factors. Also, remember that not all stains can be removed. The above advice will help enormously for most stains.

When cleaning a stain, try a neutral detergent and water first. If this does not remove the stain, then go for a cleaner with a little more oomph! Common cleaning agents for interior fabric stains include the following:

- Neutral detergent (Ivory Liquid) and water (1 part detergent to 20 parts water)
- Distilled white vinegar and water (1:1)
- Dry-cleaning fluid (Carbona, Renuzit, Perk, Casite)

What To Do About Stains

First and foremost, for any stain type, act quickly. For stain removal using hot water extractor is the best option on fabrics or carpeting. The following is a basic cleaning solution for a few common stains that appear in the vehicle. I can get most stains out using this cleaning methods.

Diagnosis: Carpet and Upholstery Stains

Solution A neutral detergent has a pH of 7 (on a scale of 0 to 14). As I discussed earlier, a detergent with a pH of less than 7 is acidic, whereas a pH higher than 7 is alkaline. Neutral detergents will not bleach fabric or remove fabric protection. Others may do just that. Avoid them!

Step 1. Use a spatula or putty knife to remove as much of the solid material as possible. The vacuum can also be a lifesaver by removing large particles of any substance that would stain if you rubbed it or moved it around. The idea is to remove as much of the contamination as possible before you begin blotting..

Step 2. Spray the stain heavily with Casite Gold cleaner , and allow it a minute or so to work. Don't scrub the stain. Use a terry towel and blot it up. Again, you don't want to spread the mess. If needed spray the stain again, and use your scrub brush with warm water and lightly agitate the stain, never scrub you will spread the stain.

Step 3. Rinse with fresh water and a terry-cloth towel, if possible use hot water extractor and extract what remains. If stain persists, it may have oil in it. Try Casite Purple, or minerals spirits. Dampen towel and blot the area. The mineral spirit dries very fast, so you may have to do the same process again.
